Welcome! 欢迎！

It's the Year of the Horse, and on behalf of everyone in the EALL department, I would like to wish you all a very Happy New Year! For the third time, the Chinese section of EALL, the Confucius Institute, the Center for Chinese Studies, and the National Foreign Language Resource Center are all working together to sponsor Chinese Culture Day. This year, in addition to the hundreds of UH students who attend this entertaining and educational event, we are also expecting 100 student-visitors from local schools. Come and enjoy a variety of games, activities, and even some snacks.

A language is more than just a collection of words and phrases. Speaking another language enables us to experience a new culture and a different way of seeing ourselves in the world. At Chinese Culture Day, you'll experience a taste of Chinese culture that will surely whet your appetite for learning. I hope to see you there!

Department of East Asian Languages & Literatures

2014: Year of the Horse

According to www.xingzuo360.cn, a Chinese astrology site, the sign of the Horse is associated with the noonday sun, an indomitable will, and a fiery disposition. Those born under the Horse are highly social, big spenders, and can't keep secrets. For more information about the Chinese Zodiac, and to find out your birth animal, check out http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Chinese_zodiac.
