Responsible Office: Office of the Vice President for Budget and Finance/Chief Financial Officer
Governing Board and/or Executive Policy: RP 8.208, Travel; EP 8.208, Travel
Review Date: August 2026

I. Purpose

To provide travel guidelines and procedures for University employees and affiliates under the authority of the Board of Regents Policy 8.208 and Executive Policy 8.208, and in accordance with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) requirements and collective bargaining agreements.

II. Definitions

- A. Federal Allowable Rate (FAR) - The maximum allowable rate for Per Diem (Lodging and M&IE) set by the General Services Administration (GSA) for Contiguous United States (CONUS) travel, and by the Department of Defense for Outside Contiguous United States, Non-Foreign Overseas and Foreign (OCONUS) travel.
- B. Intra-State Travel - Authorized travel within the State of Hawai'i which includes inter-island travel (one-day travel where the traveler leaves and returns on the same day, overnight trips on research vessels in Hawaiian waters, and trips requiring overnight absence), and on-island travel (travel on the same island that requires overnight absence). Note: Travel on the same island not requiring overnight absence, does not qualify as Intra-State Travel.
- C. Lodging - Allowable expenditure to cover the Lodging costs of Intra-State and Out-of-State Travel, where such Lodging costs are necessary and reasonable.
- D. Meals & Incidental Expenses (M&IE) - The maximum amount authorized for daily Meals and Incidental Expenses determined by the business destination set by U.S. General Services Administration for CONUS travel and the Department of Defense for OCONUS travel.

- E. Out-of-State Travel - Authorized travel outside the State of Hawai'i to the United States (U.S.) and its territories and foreign localities. Some procedural and accounting differences distinguish CONUS from OCONUS, i.e., special Per Diem rates, additional approval requirements, separate sub codes, etc.
- F. Per Diem - Allowance for Lodging, meals and related incidental expenses. A maximum specified amount for each day of authorized intra-state or Out-of-State Travel is established by collective bargaining agreements.

III. Administrative Procedure

A. Applicability

1. Applies to all University employees and affiliated personnel.
2. Applies to all State and extramural sources of funds. Extramural funded travel follows Federal and State laws, rules and regulations, institutional practices, and granting agency guidelines unless exceptions are specifically cited.
3. Whenever there is a conflict between these procedures and the provisions of a collective bargaining agreement, the provisions of the collective bargaining agreement shall take precedence. Under Chapter 89, Hawai'i Revised Statutes (HRS), excluded employees shall receive the same benefits as employees included in related bargaining units.

B. Accountable Plan

1. The University of Hawai'i reimburses employees under an "accountable" business expense reimbursement plan. Reimbursements or other expense allowance made under an accountable plan generally are nontaxable and do not have to be reported by the employer on the employee's W-2. It is the responsibility of the traveler to retain necessary documentation and complete submissions timely, or amounts could be taxable to the traveler.
2. This Administrative Procedure (AP) is meant to provide guidance for the majority of situations related to employee travel and business expenses, but it is not exhaustive. Any disputed expenses, whether or not specially addressed in this AP, must meet applicable requirements of the IRS and Treasury Regulations in order to qualify for reimbursement under an accountable plan.

3. In order to qualify as an accountable plan, payments for expenses must meet the requirements of Internal Revenue Code Sections 61, 62, 162, and 274 and related Treasury Regulations. These requirements include:
 - a. Business Connection Requirement

Advances, allowances or reimbursements are only for specified deductible business expenses that are paid or incurred by the employee in connection with his/her services as an employee.
 - b. Substantiation Requirement

The employee must submit a Travel Completion and substantiate each business expense with a detailed record, such as itemized receipts or paid bills specifying the following:
 - 1) The amount of each separate travel or business expenditure.
 - 2) Dates of departure and return, or dates of expenditure.
 - 3) Number of days away from home island spent on business.
 - 4) Remote location where traveler conducts university business (City and State or Country).
 - 5) Business purpose of travel.
 - c. Return of Funds Requirement

If the amount of an advance exceeds the reimbursable expenses, payment from the traveler for the amount due shall be submitted with the Travel Completion report to the traveler's business office within 21 calendar days from the end date of the trip. The check must be made payable to the University of Hawai'i. Exceptions to the 21 calendar day requirement may be requested through the Director of Disbursing. Failure to submit a travel completion and reimbursement to the University shall be deemed as an unsubstantiated advance and treated as wages-in-kind to the employee.

 - a. All airline expenses including baggage fees.
 - b. Conference and registration fees.
 - c. All Lodging expenses incurred as required under the Collective Bargaining Agreements. Since hotel receipts may include charges that are not reimbursable, the traveler shall not be reimbursed for Lodging expenses unless the receipt presented by the traveler contains itemized charges (e.g. room charge, taxes, phone, room service, movies, etc.) so that reimbursable charges may be identified.

d. Rental car expenses.

e. Local transportation expenses.

f. Parking expenses.

g. Receipts for each miscellaneous expense. For a listing of allowable / disallowable expenses, go to http://www.hawaii.edu/etravel/faq_expenseList.html.

2. Electronic Receipts

a. Electronic receipts are acceptable provided that the detail contained in an electronic receipt is equivalent to the level of detail contained in an acceptable paper record. For example, an electronic receipt must show the name of the payee, the amount of the charge, the transaction date and the form of payment. When required to ensure adequate documentation of the cost incurred, the traveler is responsible for providing additional detail (e.g. a receipt with itemized hotel charges).

b. E-mailed or faxed documentation provided by the airline or travel agency for electronic ticketing is acceptable for substantiating such expenses. A copy of the faxed itinerary and receipt, or a copy of the e-mailed itinerary and receipt printed locally should be attached to the travel completion.

3. Missing Original Receipts

a. When original receipts are required but cannot be obtained or have been lost and all measures to obtain a duplicate receipt have been exhausted, a statement should be provided explaining why such receipts are not submitted with the Travel Completion report. The statement must include a certification that the amount shown is the amount actually paid and that the traveler has not and will not seek reimbursement from any other source. Where no receipts are issued, expenses shall be itemized on the DISB-4D, Receipt Summary Worksheet (<https://www.hawaii.edu/fmo/travel/forms-travel/>), and certified that the expenses were incurred in the conduct of official business, and signed and dated by the Traveler.

- b. Reimbursements for missing or lost receipts shall be limited to $75 per receipt. Lodging receipts are always required regardless of amount.

N. Certification of Travel Expense

The traveler must sign the Travel Completion report certifying that the amounts claimed are a true statement of the expenses incurred on official University business and that the originals of all required receipts have been submitted.

O. Return of Excess Travel Advance

If the amount of an advance exceeds the reimbursable expenses, payment from the traveler for the amount due shall be submitted with the Travel Completion report to the traveler's business office within 21 calendar days from the end date of the trip. The check must be made payable to the University of Hawai'i

P. Tax Considerations

The income and applicable employment taxes on the additional wages related to unsubstantiated advances will be withheld from the employee's regular earnings. Once amounts are reported to the IRS as wages, no changes can be made to the payroll records.

1. Unrecovered Cash Advances – If an employee fails to substantiate expenses and return any unused cash advance amounts within 60 days of the return date of the trip, the University may, under IRS regulations, report such amounts as income to the employee. As a result, the amount of unsubstantiated expenses and unrecovered advances will be reported through the payroll system as additional wages to the employee. Automated notifications generated via eTravel will be emailed to the traveler notifying them of their lack of compliance. The Disbursing Office will follow up with the department on the status of the travel completion.
2. Non-Cash Advances – Travel payments, such as registration fees, airline tickets, etc., made to a vendor on behalf of an employee who has not submitted a Travel Completion report within the 60 day period will be reported through the payroll system as additional wages to the employee.
