- How do we understand political processes in Hawai‘i?
- What is the purpose of reflecting on conflicting political views that shape Hawai‘i's present?
- How can archives and libraries play a role in nurturing reflection on our collective pasts to have broad based discussion about the present & future?

Join this symposium of archival, library workers, and community leaders as we discuss the launch of an online resource that curates archival materials from the federal, state, and community levels that document the debate surrounding the construction of the H-3 freeway.

The symposium will feature:

Presentation and Dialogue between

- Library & Archival workers who created the H-3 archival online resource, and
- Hawai‘i community leaders & professionals who have direct knowledge of & experience with H-3’s history.
